Special Enrollment Period (SEP)

Idahoans who have lost employer-sponsored health insurance as a result of termination, layoff, or furlough due to COVID-19 are eligible for an SEP.

Previously this process would require several steps of documentation and validation. Under the new, relaxed policy, Idahoans can submit a written statement explaining their loss of employer health benefits.

This new process removes time-consuming barriers and ensures an expedited path to coverage. Visit Your Health Idaho.

Carrier Concerns on SEP

1. Loyal clients may end up paying extra due to new clients coming on board who may not stay with the carrier passed a few months.
2. There are misunderstandings as to who already qualifies for an SEP—clarity is needed.
3. Carriers established rates a year ago based on certain morbidity and claim assumptions. To change those assumptions mid-year creates problems.
4. Carriers are concerned about long-range costs. Will current enrollees be able to change plans mid-year?
5. Carriers are concerned about the precedent of doing an SEP for a medical issue. Instead, they encourage people to buy during open enrollment and use short-term plans to fill the gap.
6. Carriers are concerned about the ability and length of time it would take to mobilize. For example, Washington state just extended SEP after the initial 2 weeks.
