DISCLAIMER: While the Idaho Department of Insurance and Your Health Idaho are working to provide accurate and up-to-date information to all interested parties through this document, last-minute changes may occur at the federal level. If the federal government funds the “Cost Sharing Reductions,” there may be changes in premium rates, which may in turn result in a crosswalked plan no longer being the lowest cost option available in 2018 at the given metal level. Please check with the Department of Insurance for any updates to this document as Open Enrollment (November 1) approaches.

Plan Crosswalk Overview for Counties where an Insurance Company will not Offer 2018 On-Exchange Plans

The plans in the tables below will be the default auto-enrollment choice for policyholders of the 2017 plans offered through Your Health Idaho only if the insurance company no longer offer plans through Your Health Idaho in 2018 in a given county. The default plans are the lowest cost option available in 2018 at the given metal level, in the respective counties. If a company continues offering 2018 plans in a given county, this table does not apply; all their policyholders will renew into the same plan or be automatically enrolled into the most similar 2018 plan as chosen by the insurance company. See the county-specific tables on other pages for the details about specific 2017 plans; these county-specific tables also show the 2018 plan in cases where an insurance company auto-enrolls policyholders to a different plan that company offers.

These tables apply only to the 2017 BridgeSpan plans (all counties) and the 2017 SelectHealth plans in Bannock, Caribou, and Power counties, by county and metal level of the 2017 plan.

Some key points for individuals who are crosswalked to a different insurance company to consider:

- Spend time reviewing other options through Your Health Idaho and your agent, to make sure you choose the best plan for your situation.
- If you don't have an agent, consider finding one to help you decide between your plan options. Check Your Health Idaho for a list of agents in your area: <https://www.yourhealthidaho.org/enrollment-resources/consumer-assistance-locator/>.
- Review the provider network of your plan, to make sure any physicians or hospitals you use are included.
- Review the out-of-pocket costs (deductible, coinsurance, etc.) of your plan to make sure it meets your needs.

Ada County

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.

Blaine County

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.

Cassia County

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.

Gooding County

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.

Madison County

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.

In the table below, the left column shows all 2017 on-exchange plans within the county which will not be renewed in 2018. The right column indicates the plan into which the policyholders will be auto-enrolled for 2018. In some cases, the insurance company will no longer offer the same plan in 2018, but will enroll the policyholders into a similar plan offered by the same company. In other cases, the insurance company will no longer offer any individual health plans on the exchange, and the policyholders will be enrolled into a comparable plan offered by another insurance company. For 2017 catastrophic plans, policyholders who will no longer qualify for auto-enrollment in catastrophic coverage due to aging out (i.e., one or more household member will be 30 years old as of January 1, 2018) will be enrolled into a Bronze plan offered by the same or another insurance company, depending on whether the 2017 company is still offering on-exchange health plans in 2018.
